

Sporting chances

PURSUING his idea of a great job has taken physiotherapist Chris Seville into the inner sanctum of the Collingwood Football Club.

After suffering some serious injuries as a teenager, Seville became interested in how the human body worked. "Even before I knew that I wanted to be a physiotherapist, I knew I wanted to work in sport, particularly elite sport," he says.

He now enjoys a multi-faceted role in physiotherapy: a practitioner at Physioworks Health Group; rehabilitation co-ordinator with Collingwood; and teaching at Monash University.

Monash University will exhibit with more than 150 other groups at the Herald Sun Melbourne Career Expo on July 27 to 29.

Details: www.careerexpo.com.au

WORKOUT: Chris Seville works with Lachlan Keeffe. Picture: Chris Scott